

BOOK A FIELD TRIP TO THE Eudora Welty House & Garden

Not just for English classes!

We can customize your field trip for all ages around historical themes from the 1920s, 1930s, 1940s, and 1960s; art, photography, and architecture; botany, biology, and plant science; and of course, English, creative writing, and literature. Just ask!

Need to schedule a full day?

Class visits take about 90 minutes. Email us to coordinate same-day trips to nearby sites like the Old Capitol Museum, The Medgar and Myrlie Evers Home, or the COFO Civil Rights Education Center.

MAKE THE Eudora Welty House & Garden YOUR CLASSROOM

Engage your students in Mississippi's rich culture at a National Historic Landmark in the capital city: the preserved home and garden of Pulitzer Prize-winning author Eudora Welty (1909-2001).

Encourage creativity by exploring Welty's influences, inspiration sources, writing process, and artistic achievements in literature, photography, and more.

Spark curiosity about twentieth-century history through guided tours, museum exhibits, typewriter stations, a restored garden, and group activities (like scavenger hunts and writing prompts).
